

Open Position

ADC specialist: Antibody Oncology Research (100%) Research Associate OR Scientist

Araris Biotech AG is a PSI and ETH spin-off company located close to Zurich, Switzerland, developing high performance antibody-drug conjugates (ADCs) using our proprietary Araris ADC Technology. We are currently looking for a highly motivated Research Associate or Scientist to join our enthusiastic and dedicated team.

Responsibilities:

- Support planning and execution of drug discovery projects, including production and characterization of ADCs (biophysical properties, specific activity, biological assays etc.)
- Support implementation of project-specific assays and their optimization
- Plan, execute, and report experimental work independently and in collaboration with team members
- Support the Araris Team to fulfill company milestones

Requirements:

- Degree as laboratory technician or Master of Science in Biochemistry, Bioconjugation Chemistry, Pharmaceutical Sciences or in a related technical field
- OR:
- Scientist with PhD degree in Biochemistry, Protein Chemistry, Bioconjugation, Protein Engineering, Pharmaceutical Sciences or in a related technical field
 - Must haves: Knowledge and extensive hands-on experience with setup and execution of standard techniques for protein or bioconjugate production, purification and characterization (SEC, FPLC/HPLC, HIC, SDS-PAGE, LC-MS, ELISA)
 - Experience with antibody or ADC work is strongly desired
 - Experience with bioengineering, bioconjugation, biochemistry or oncology models is highly welcome
 - Knowledge and experience with standard cell culture and cell-based assays is a plus
 - Excellent communication skills
 - Feel comfortable with English (spoken/written) as main communication language
 - Computational work (Word, Excel, PowerPoint, GraphPad Prism, etc.)
 - Passionate about working in a high intensity-work start-up company
 - Strong and fun team player

Do you feel ready for this challenge at Araris Biotech? We are looking forward to receiving your application!
